

Torri del Vajolet Italy

- | | |
|------------------------------|-----|
| 1. South Ridge, 60 m. | III |
| 2. South-West Ridge, 120 m. | IV |
| 3. South Face, 120 m. | V- |
| 4. South Face, 120 m. | IV |
| 5. South Face, 120 m. | IV |
| 6. Ordinary Route, 150 m. | III |
| 7. South Face Direct, 110 m. | VI |
| 8. South-East Ridge, 100 m. | V |

All routes; Traditional climbing

Torri del Vajolet, "The Three Sisters" has been baptized with the name of the first climber who reached its summit. "The Three Sisters" is one of the most elegant geological structures of the Dolomites.

Descent:

Torre Delago. From the top, go towards the Stabler tower and you will find an abseil peg just below the summit. Abseil 35 m. to the block between the towers. There you will find abseil rings on the right wall. Descend the gully and use the abseil rings at convenient intervals.

Torre Stabeler. On the edge facing the Winkler tower you will find a groove chipped in the rock. Abseil from this down the gully on the north side of the tower for 34 m. to a ledge. Follow this ledge round to the block between the Stabeler and Dealgo towers. Abseil down the gully.

Torre Winkler. Abseil down to the shoulder on the South-East ridge. Then follow the ledge to the right (West) descending slightly to a ledge that are facing the Stabeler tower. Abseil 42 m. or do the abseil in two steps to a gap between the towers. Abseil 12 m. down to a the gully bed. Descend a few metres further, traverse across a slab on the Winkler tower to the second ledge on the ascent route.

Descend this to the ground.

